ABOUT

LYNGDAL

Rooted in Norwegian manufacturing heritage, Lyngdal combines Scandinavian design, quality craftsmanship and lasting performance. Manufactured in Lyngdal, Norway, each panel features a strong, stable birch plywood core, offering a stylish and practical alternative to traditional bathroom tiles. The collection is available throughout the UK from Rearo.

Choose from marble, terrazzo, slate, concrete and natural stone effects, bold herringbone and Moroccan-inspired patterns, contemporary oak slats and understated neutrals. Complementary décors can be mixed and matched to create anything from a calm, minimalist bathroom to a bold, characterful space.

Designed for demanding bathroom environments, Lyngdal panels form a 100% waterproof system and are UV-resistant, easy to install and simple to maintain. Responsibly manufactured and supported by a lifetime warranty, they retain their appearance while delivering dependable, long-lasting performance.

Lyngdal panels are SINTEF-approved and certified in accordance with EAD 030437-00-0503 for watertight wet-room wall and floor covering systems. Independently assessed for watertightness, durability, fire safety and emissions, the complete system requires no additional tanking when installed.
